LUCKY LEMON DAYS HERE AGAIN

A three day "bargain jamboree" has been whomped up by Lemon Grove retailers to kick-off a year 'round series of merchandising events designed to attract attention to the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area as the county's most attractive shopping mart.

This event is called Lucky Lemon Grove Days and is tied in with the official opening of the Lemon Grove Freeway. Sale starts Friday and some "fabulous" values will be offered. These bargains will be available to shoppers all day Friday, Saturday and carry over through Monday. Friday night shopping, long popular in the area, will be carried on as usual with all the merchandise attractions shown during the day being made available Friday night until 9.

Stores cooperating in this venture will display a large yellow colored lemon in their windows. This group of shops has embarked upon the public relations venture which they claim will produce more values for the consumer public by attracting more sales traffic into the community.

Most important, reports Ted Skelley, who is spokesman for the newly formed group, is that bona fide mark down of standard merchandise will save money for Lucky Lemon Grove shoppers. "This is not an event planned for the betterment of the retailer," he pointed out. "It is designed to give shoppers a very substantial savings. This is part of a long range plan by which the retailer will be helped by added volume as more of these promotions are held and word of it gets to our neighboring communities."

In this week's newspaper is a double page of values of the sponsoring firms. This group will grow as the excitement and the enthusiasm for the project is absorbed by other local business firms.

To aid in getting the message to as many shoppers as possible this newspaper this week is including some non-subscribers to receive a sample copy.

Attention is called to the fact that new subscribers are entitled to a coupon book worth more than $100 in value (see related story elsewhere on this page.)

The Lemon Grove Freeway will be officially turned over to our community Friday morning at 11 a.m. at a roadside ceremony at freeway and Massachusetts, it was announced this week by Bruce Harms, president of the local chamber of commerce. It will be made part of a public relations promotion of local business firms.

Jacob Dekema, division engineer for the state division of highways, and Ralph Luckenbach, assistant engineer, will have part in the ceremony.

SUPERVISOR SAYS ELECTION PLATFORM TO BE CONTINUED SERVICE TO ALL

David W. Bird

Dave Bird, chairman of the county board of supervisors, who is seeking reelection as the supervisor in the Second District, promised this week to continue his policy of "service to all the people, not to special, selfish or disgruntled interests."

Recently honored at a dinner given by 400 civic leaders for his 30 years of public service, Bird said he would support further steps toward retaining "clean, honest, impartial government."

A board member since 1941, he and Mrs. Bird are parents of three children. They live at 945 "N" Ave., National City.

During his current term Bird supported the program for consolidation of the city-county health department, originated the plan for a feasibility study of the harbor potential for the benefit

Auditors Named For Grove Records

Paul Sterrenberg and Smith was contacted by the Lemon Grove School Board Monday evening to audit the district records for the year 1955-1956. This is an annual audit required by state law. In other actions the board adopted policies governing prior experience credit to be granted classified employees on the salary schedule and approved the sale of tickets for the May swimming pool carnival through the schools. This sale will be conducted by a limited number of students and will not interrupt or disturb regular instruction, according to Byron L. Netzley, superintendent.

Louis Poluzzi and Rick Stammerjohn, Monterey Heights School teachers, presented an arithmetic demonstration to board members at the beginning of the meeting. The students of some classes assisted with this, and the demonstration was well attended by parents and other than school parents.

Youth Center Show Termed 'Success'

The variety show held Friday night at Junior High School for the purpose of liquidating delinquent bills of the Lemon Grove Youth Center was termed a "financial success" by Frank Armstrong, youth board member who engineered the event.

It was more than a financial success because the show played to a packed house. More than 100 persons were forced to stand and many didn't even get in.

The center was recently reorganized and a new program has been set up. Use of the facilities will be extended to cover needs of all youth groups where possible.

The variety show program at the cafetorium was competently emceed by Robert Snow after Armstrong had given kudos to deserving individuals who had helped put the show together. On the program were the Junior High Drum Quartet, which gave a rousing exhibition of drum fanfare. Myra Sonka dancers added charm and femininity, all sizes. Jim Poole's accordionists attracted considerable applause as did the Frances School of Dance ensemble. Patty Corle, national champ baton twirler, showed why she holds the title; the Trio sang songs as did Georgia Moore, Barbara Jo Castigolione and the Triple Trio of Jr. High.

The Rainbow Twirlers exhibited some fancy square dancing in two groups; Frances' School presented three extraordinary numbers, one of them a hula; the Twirlers of Oz spun batons in unison; the El Cajon Judo team, which included a girl, cavorted on the wrestling mat and coffee and lemonade were served during intermission.

Armstrong said that there had been a $500 balance on old bills for the youth center but the county, at his urging, had cancelled part of the balance. The income from the sales of tickets (all sellers have not yet reported) will total some $350. Excess funds will be used to purchase equipment for the youth building.

In all, it was a fine and rewarding event and the audience had fun. This, most agreed, was a splendid example of how a community can pull together for the good of its residents.

Dull Meeting For Water Works Board

For the first time in months, directors of the waterworks finished the business on the docket and were through for the day before 11 a.m., much to the surprise and edification of the five gentlemen aforesaid.

Si Casady, militant editor of El Cajon Valley News, old-timer in the newspaper field in this section — the News, that is — was present, but from the docket he didn't get much to write about.

Lemon Grove was not mentioned in the whole meeting, either docket or viva voce, which left us way out on a limb.

Warrants totaling $146,191.62 were approved. N. P. Van Valkenburgh Co. drew a total of $139,773.77 in two bites, Jack A. Compton drew 41 cents and others drew checkies in various amounts, to make up the grand total.

Dr. Padfield asked that a representative of the waterworks attend a meeting of residents near 70th street, to discuss the effects of annexation to the city of La Mesa, as far as water is concerned.

Information: Standard and Poor's has assigned a rating of B-1* to our $5,230,000 bond issue. (A-1* is the highest grade (there should be a little cross after each of the above B-1 and A-1 but our old typer has no such character.) A-1* is high, A is upper medium grade, and B-1* is medium grade. So now you know how we rate with the bond buyers.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Your "Dimmer View" column of April 19, 1956 surely makes a politician out of me in the eyes of your readers.

In order to get the record straight about a few of the statements, it might be well to tell the people that the county CANNOT control the actions of the officials of the City of La Mesa.

We received a letter from the city engineer of La Mesa stating that they were permitting the contractor for the Gamac Corporation to close Orien Street for the period of 60 days, beginning April 11, 1956, for the redesign of the intersection of Orien Street and Yale Avenue, (Murray Hill Road).

We received this letter April 6, 1956.

Instead of arguing about the matter we asked the board of supervisors for authorization to close Murray Hill Road so traffic going north from Waite Drive would not be forced to turn around in a narrow road and then come back. (Is this good or bad cooperation?)

You say I succumbed to vested interests in this matter.

Mr. Goodwin, I say to you that this statement is untrue.

I acted in good faith for the people who are using the road—to turn them back at Waite Drive before they got to Orien Street.

My conscience is clear.

Why didn't you tell the people all the story on Cypress Street? The Cypress Street widening is only one of three outlets for the people in Lomita and Monterey Heights. Two of these would feed into Imperial Avenue either to Lemon Grove, Encanto, or the new freeway via San Miguel Avenue. One would feed north to Broadway via Skyline Drive and Kempf Street.

At the moment we are trying to work out of a situation where a subdivider was to dedicate right of way on a filed subdivision map and was also to make certain agreed-upon improvements north of Palm Avenue. We understand he is now in financial difficulties as he has ceased operations.

Do you blame us for trying to save the county some expense for right of way and improvement costs on this street?

Granted, there is now some delay due to the subdivider ceasing operations, and we probably must condemn and improve wholly at county expense. This is one of those things—they happen in the best of families.

Lastly, you intimate that my judgment in the Cypress Street widening must have been influenced by a Mr. Lee Thompson because some relative has an interest in some business property

That is a damn lie. I don't know the man nor his relative.

Something is eating on you, Max; you used to click with me as being a straight shot calling newspaper man. I still believe that way inside, you want your readers to get the straight story.

Don't for God's sake get like papers in some towns and slant the stuff one way.

A good paper is needed in this area, and yours might be the one to make the grade if you don't go "yellow sheet."

Forgive the advice, but I'm an old man of 61 and it's permitted at my age.

Sincerely,
Joe Mack
County Road Commissioner

My! Mr. Mack does have a temper!

We invite the attention of Mr. Mack and the city officials of La Mesa to the bottleneck and dangers they have created at the entrance to Helix High School at Yale and University by closing Murray Hills Road.

Major point is that a delay of a few weeks would have put the road closing in the vacation period, eliminating entirely all of dangers and waste of time, gas and tires of our students and their autos.

Mr. Lee Thompson, for the benefit of Reader Mack, is the brother-in-law of Mr. Tony Sonka, who is owner of one of the tracts of land at the confluence of Cypress and Imperial. There are others who own land in the perimeter under discussion.

For the record, we know Mr. Mack to be a competent, sincere county surveyor and road commissioner. He, as we, can exercise

THINGS DOIN' & BREWIN'
About Civic Center

By DICK HENDERSON

Board of Supervisors regular meeting Tuesday was a very quiet affair until 11:15 a.m., with Chairman David Bird in Coronado to welcome the Plumbers' Convention. Dave gave the Plumbers the freedom of the County, and came back to direct the Supervisors' assembly at 11 o'clock.

At the appointed hour a "hearing on Special Assessment Report for the improvement of Hardy Drive, et al, Lemon Grove, 1911 Act Unincorporated Area 36, Road Improvement District 6006, Protest Received" was called.

Hardy Drive is a block long between Palm and Mt. Vernon. The present roadway is not satisfactory to some of the property owners on each side of the street, and a petition for improvement was filed some time ago. Protests from 52% of the property owners affected followed.

A deputy county counsel read cost figures totaling $15,789 for the project, which were about twice the figures submitted by a private contractor when the petition for the paving was circulated. That difference in cost roused the ire of the protestants, and some had plenty to say. The mike system is not too good, and this reporter had difficulty in hearing many of the arguments advanced. Also, the speakers failed to identify themselves, except in a couple of instances.

However, the doubled cost of the project was what griped the protestants, Mrs. Gladys Fowler, Lot 2 on Hardy Drive thought $6000 as her share of the cost was too high. She said there are 35 children living on the street and wanted a reduced speed sign put up.

Mrs. Russell Ray, a long-time resident, was another who objected to the cost by the County estimate, favored the improvement but didn't want such a fancy job. Mrs. Ray's sister, who lives with her, spoke briefly in support of her sister's argument.

John Coryell, who owns 209 ft. frontage, was another who protested the cost. He was one of the original purchasers of the lots fronting on present road. He said that Mr. Hardy, who laid out the tract, agreed verbally to put in a road, but that statement was not incorporated in the deed, so when the rains came residents had to pull each other out of the mud every time it rained.

The Coryells have income property, 209 by 211 ft., approximately 1.11 acres. They put in a sewer line last year, cost over $1200, and have installed a water line. They have a duplex and want their tenants to have a good road, and want one themselves, but were told that the cost to them for the road would be $4.20 per foot, and now they get a bill for $8.50 per front foot, more than twice the first figure.

Rev. Phillip Bartlet, pastor of the Episcopal Church on Hardy Drive, spoke against the cost figure submitted by the county. The Church paid $9,000 for the land when they bought it from Mr. Hardy, and the road is used by church-goers on Sundays, but not as much as the week-day users. The Church would have to pay $3400 as its share of the improvement.

Supervisor Bird said he sympathized with the folks who would be assessed for the improvement and suggested that the hearing be continued for two weeks, May 1st being the time set, at 11:15. "Same time, same Station."

Miscellaneous Matters:

Letter from Dept. of Public Works submitting, for approval, a schedule of fees to be charged for use in Lemon Grove Youth Center, as prepared and approved by the Board of Directors of Lemon Grove Youth Center.

Letter from Surveyor and Road Commissioner submitting and recommending approval of the request of Einer Bros., Inc., for an extension of time for a period of 24 days, (until April 28, 1956) for completion of its contract for the construction of Road Survey 1161 (Skyline Drive), the delay having been caused by inclement weather and awaiting results of certain tests.

A letter from Joe Mack reporting on the complaint of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Jordan of drainage condition at 2156 Sweetwater Road, and recommending no change in the location of present channel.

Real Indians To Be On Pool Carnival Program

This year's Swimming Pool Carnival will be kicked off with a parade, complete with real Indians.

Parade will be on Friday, May 11, at 7 p.m. and will wend its way down Broadway from New Jersey, then continue to the St. John of the Cross Rodeo Grounds. The carnival itself will start at 5 p.m. Friday and will last two days.

Indians are famed Black Hawks. They will display authentic Indian dances during the carnival which will be repeated this sumer at the Fiesta del Pacifico.

Proceeds from the affair will be used to build the swimming pool on the property previously acquired by the Association at Washington and Mt. Vernon.

General chairman his year is Mrs. Carl Piepenbrink .She said that there would be more game and food booths than ever before. There will also be a square dance Friday night and a Teen-age dance Saturday to the music of Al Anthony's band.

In the parade, in addition to Chief Black Hawk, will be the Al Bahr Shrine band, the Clown Band, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts, Pom Pon girls and Baton Twirlers. The VFW unit and the Lemon Grove Fire Department will all have units in the parade. Scrip tickets are presently being distributed. These sell for 10c each and are exchangeable for games or food at the Carnival.

This is the third annual event by the Swimming Pool Association.

Committee Would Make S. San Diego County Into 'Borough'

Consideration of setting up a borough system, similar to that in La Jolla, will get the eye of the San Diego Industrial Development Committee when it meets Friday at 8 p.m. at an insurance office at 928 Broadway in San Diego.

Representatives from all areas in the county are being invited to take part in the meeting. The meeting is aimed at setting into motion machinery for boroughlizing the south part of the county.

Miles Nagel, former mayor of La Mesa, who is a sponsor of the borough philosophy, said that the meeting would be open to any interested person and that a formal invitation was not necessary.

Representing Lemon Grove will be Frenchy Faucher, Lemon Grove postmaster, and Channing P. Mason, local businessman, school board trustee and fire commissioner.

The Dimmer VIEW

By MAX GOODWIN

We're going to have the cleanest, and wettest, kids in our history starting next year, or soon thereafter.

Swimming pool projects designed for the benefit of our youngsters will be coming into actuality about that time.

One, designed to take the pressure of attendance of most of our dripping wet fry and tadpoles, is the community swimming pool to be built near the southeast corner of Washington and Mt. Vernon. The other is to be built in conjunction with the new Mount Miguel high school on Sweetwater Road.

So as to prevent confusion among those who see these two projects in antipathy with each other, let me clarify the situation right here.

First, let it be known, that the Mount Miguel swimming pool, an all-purpose plant size 41x75 feet in size, will be available for general public use only when the high school is shut down during summer vacation. No less an authority than Harold Hughes, assistant superintendent of the Grossmont High School District is the authority for this statement. This makes good sense since it would be impossible to train youngsters in the manner prescribed in a crowded pool. Those of us who have seen the La Mesa Community Pool know what I mean.

The group which has worked so assiduously to bring a La Mesa-type pool operation to Lemon Grove is the Lemon Grove Swimming Pool Association and is comprised of interested citizens and taxpayers, and representatives of any club, group or organization which wanted a part in the proceedings. At present, a civic dynamo, Mrs. Carl Piepenbrink of Spring Valley is the president while V. J. Dorman, attorney and representative of the Lions Club, is the guiding light and the organization through the past three years has acquired enough money to obtain the 600x210 foot piece of land near the Washington-Mt. Vernon Street intersection.

The group plans to build three pools for your youngsters. One is an all purpose pool about the size planned for Mount Miguel. Another is to be a diving pool near half that size, and the third is to be a wading pool for the wee-est ones.

The new junior high school will eventually be built on the West property across the street on Mt. Vernon and plans to allow young swimmers to use the school's dressing rooms and locker facilities is already being requested of the school trustees.

Even the freeway people have gotten into this commendable act. Tom Hawley, the superintendent for the Guy Atkinson Company, the firm which is building the Lemon Grove freeway, has generously offered to skin the citrus trees off the lot so the kids could use it as a playground until the money for the pool is forthcoming.

Many generous local residents have contributed time and money and in all the project has come near giving this community the feeling of unity it so desperately needs.

This little piece is offered to help clear up the minds of those who are fuzzy in their thinking as to where each of these two local pools will fit into the scheme of things.

The Lemon Grove Community Pool will be analogous to the La Mesa Community pool and the high school pool will serve its own.

Meanwhile, the swimming pool group is holding its annual carnival Friday and Saturday, May 11 and 12 at St. John of the Cross Church Rodeo Grounds. All the proceeds go into the swimming pool fund.

Everyone who resides in this town should support it!

Metropolitan Service District Urged By Capt. Goodbody

"Compromise, not capitulation," is the formula Captain Robert Goodbody offered the Men's Club Friday as an aid in resolving the need for a "municipal district for community services." Goodbody is a civic leader of Brookside and his firm, as did it before him, represents the Roman Catholic Bishop of San Diego.

Goodbody said that the Metropolitan Water District was a fair case in point. "Police, fire, sewer and water services could be merged into a metropolitan service district as a guard against losing further control of the destiny of the community we reside in.

"We are losing sections of area to San Diego without adequate defense," he pointed out. "It is like the old days of Indians and the white wagon trains." He called upon Lemon Grove and Spring Valley to unite for common defense.

Ken Conrad, local mortician, reported that a petition was being circulated at the west end of Broadway to stall the progress now being made by the Broadway Improvement Association. Circulators, he said, claimed the project would cost too much.

Harry Griffen, chairman of the improvement association, said that it would not be possible to assess the cost of any participant until the engineering and study cost had been made. County and state officials are in the midst of that at present. "It may be that it will cost too much," Griffen said. "In that case we will all withdraw from participation. Until we know what the cost will be, any protesting action is premature."

A triple-star program will be offered this week, according to Ken Barwick, club secretary. The "Unsung Hero" award will be presented, it having been deferred due to failure of the certificate of award to arrive in time last week.

Louis Peelyon, superintendent of Grossmont Hospital, will give a kick-off talk to mark National Hospital Week. Big-wigs of the district of the State Division of Highways will be on hand to glow in the aura of accomplishment after they officially turn the Lemon Grove Freeway over to the chamber of commerce in a ceremony set for 11 a.m. Friday at the confluence of freeway-Broadway and Massachusetts.

All men are invited to the 12 noon luncheon-meeting.

Date Set On Walker-Scott College Grove Store

Walker-Scott's College Grove store will open March 9, 1958 and will do $6 millions in gross sales the first year, George A. Scott, president of the firm announced this week.

The downtown store did more than $9 million in retail sales during the fiscal year ended January 31. The College Grove store will be 1½ times as large as the down town store but is not expected to equal the San Diego store sales volume for five years.

Scott said there would be approximately 40 shops in the shopping center at College and Broadway.

Grove Youth Receives Top Scout Award Of Church

The For God and Country award was presented to Dan Heiserman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Heiserman, 1601 Cameron last Sunday at the First Congregationla Church.

This award is one of scoutings highest and has an equal standing with the Eagle Scout award. The presentation was made during the morning Worship Service.

In order for a boy to receive this award he must first of all be a First Class Scout in good standing. The program takes at least one full year to complete, for there are three four - month stages of development. Eighteen months were required for Dan to complete his work, which included field trips, interviews, a great deal of study, service to the church and community and evidence of leadership ability.

After the work was completed here, Dan went before the San Diego Council of Churches Committee on Scouting and was examined by this board.

This is the first time that the For God and Country Award has been received by a Lemon Grove boy.

The production is being directed by Very Rev. John R. Aherne O.S.A., St Augustine principal. Patrick L. Wolff of the St. Augustine faculty is stage manager. Make-up supervision will be by the St. Mary's Players.

Assignment Pakistan

By JACK MASHIN
Coach at Grossmont High School

In November 1955, I received a telephone call from the U. S. State Department asking if I would be interested in going to Pakistan for ten weeks to assist in setting up an athletic program and to aid in the Pakistan Olympic program. Such an assignment is under the auspices of the U. S. State Department's International Educational Service, the main purpose of which is to promote international good will. Previous to this, I had been contacted for a similar assignment in Turkey but the precarious situation on that region, due to the Cypress problem, cancelled the trip.

Through the gracious cooperation of the Grossmont District administration and the Grossmont Board of Education, I was granted a leave of absence which permitted me to accept this special assignment.

Leaving San Diego in December, I flew to Washington D. C.

for a briefing with state department officials. A few days later I was on a Pan-American Airways Constellation headed for Karachi, Pakistan, some 8,000 miles distant. Thirty five hours flying time later, with refueling stops in Shannon, Paris, Rome, and Beirut, found me in Karachi, capital of Pakistan, a well-planned modern city in an ancient and colorful region, with a way of life completely foreign to ours.

My assignment was to conduct track and field clinics sponsored by the Pakistan Sports Federation, composed of military, civilian, police, YMCA, university and high school units of Pakistan. Through a series of lectures, visual aids, and demonstrations, an atempt was made to acquaint their athletes, coaches, and officials with the American methods used in developing our athletic program, particularly in track and field. The secondary purpose of the assignment was to give all possible assistance towards the promotion of the Pakistan Olympic program, in preparation of the 1956 Olympic Games to be held in November in Melbourne, Australia. Lastly, but of greatest importance in my opinion, was the promotion of good will between Pakistan and the U. S. A.

Pakistan, a relatively new nation, was created in 1947 through partition from India. With a population of 87,000,000 people, its two widely spaced units, East and West Pakistan, are separated by India. Tremendous problems were created as a result of the partition. Since most Pakistani are of the Moslem faith, many Moslems were driven out of India into Pakistan, thereby creating a refugee problem of seven million people. Hindus who held governmental positions prior to partition migrated to India, leaving the new nation without trained civil servants. Since many Hindus are merchants, the exodus of the Hindus also left Pakistan with a serious financial problem.

However, the Pakistani have made tremendous strides in a period of eight short years. A new constitution has been adopted, making Pakistan a republic. Many industries are being developed and fishing and agriculture are thriving. The people of Pakistan, having a burning ambition to create a great nation in the turbulent Middle East, are a determined lot.

The Pakistani is an industrious and willing worker. This industriousness, together with his determination, was most impressive. These people are also proud, and justly so, of their heritage. Out of the Punjab area, during the British rule of India, emerged most of Britain's fighting men and out of East Pakistan came the famous Bengal Lancers.

Pakistan is a sports minded nation and her athletes have a great potential. They have been handicapped by the insufficent number of trained coaches and by inadequate finances to support a broad program. Despite this, Pakistan athletes performed creditably during the Pakistan Olympic trials, held in Lehore on March, 1956, 2-3-4. They demonstrated aptitude in the sprints, broad jump, middle distance races, hurdles, javelin and hammer throw and could well be contenders in those events in Melbourne.

In Pakistan I found a sincere feeling of friendship for the U.S.A., together with a deep sense of appreciation for our aid to them. They are most appreciative of that kind of aid which helps them help themselves. This type of assistance seems to create the most good will since it enables a nation to maintain her self respect. The Soviet Union is attempting to infiltrate this area under the guise of offering technical aid and attractive trade agreements, but we have definitely met this challenge in Pakistan. The Pakistani are very anti-communist.

When I departed these shores for this assignment, I was anticipating the varied experiences awaiting me, regardless of the country. Now, I am extremely grateful that Pakistan was my destination. Not only was I impressed with this young, struggling republic but I developed a genuine fondness for her people and an admiration for their fighting spirit. I only hope that, in some small measure, I have been able to contribute towards the furtherance of Pakistan-United States friendly relations.

This was my sixth trip abroad. Each time I return to these United States, I come home with a feeling of tremendous pride in my country, a greater recognition of the tremendous opportunities offered here, a more sober appreciation of my American heritage. One can not travel abroad without being doubly convinced that this it truly a country blessed by God.

California Teachers Meeting Educational Challenges

Teachers of California are moving forward to meet the challenges to public education imposed in the state by lack of classrooms, scarcity of teachers and insufficiency of revenue.

The movement was launched in San Francisco recently by actions taken by the State Council of Education, policy making body of the 85,000-member California Teachers Association.

This council, numbering nearly 300 teacher representatives elected from all parts of the state, adopted a program which in the words of Arthur F. Corey, executive secretary, is essential "if California is to fulfill its obligation to its greatest natural resource—the youth of the state."

To provide needed increased state revenues for the support of public schools the council unanimously voted in favor of legislation to take the cost of transportation of pupils, education of exceptional children, growth in attendance, and county supervision out of state apportionment based on $180 per pupil and have these costs provided for by new appropriations. It is estimated that in the first year after adoption of such proposed legislation state revenues for the support of schools would be increased somewhere between $40 million and $50 million.

At present school district aid from the state is based upon the pupil attendance of the previous year. The CTA proposal would have that part of attendance represented by growth paid for by the state during the year in which the growth takes place.

To provide money for the financing of the construction of classrooms in districts which have exhausted their local credit the council voted support of the proposed $100 million state bond issue which will be on the ballot at the election next November.

Support also was voted for the proposed $200 million bond issue, half of which would be used to finance construction of buildings for state colleges and the University of California.

To bring salaries of teachers up to what was designated as a "truly professional level" the council adopted a resolution requesting school districts to make every possible effort to approve schedules ranging from a minimum of $4,200 to not less than $9,000 a year—and that in any case maximum salaries be no less than twice minimum salaries.

Approval of a plan was voted under which a joint committee of CTA, the California School Boards Association and the California Medical Association would prepare standards for the determination of physical fitness for employment of teachers and procedures for arriving at that determination.

Law Requires Assessor to Place Full Cash Value on Taxable Property

This is the second of a series of stories prepared by the State Association of County Assessors of California to acquaint California residents with the duties and responsibilities of county assessors and the services which are available through their county assessors.

With the exception of the cost of operating his own office, your county assessor has no responsibility for government or fiscal expenditures and the ultimate tax rate.

The assessor is not concerned with the amount of the total budget or the total amount to be raised by property taxation. The assessor's prime duty is to place a value on all taxable property that is uniform throughout the county and uniform with other county assessments and those of the state board of equalization.

The matter of inter-county equalization is of more importance to you, the taxpayer, than any other feature of his work.

The law requires that all property shall be assessed at its full cash value. The courts have defined this as "the amount at which property would be received on a just debt from a solvent debtor." This has been uniformly interpreted as something less than the current market value because property actually is as fluid as money.

Your assessor plays a star role in establishing and maintaining this equity.

For example: If the assessor were to assess all property in the county at 50 per cent of market value one year and the next year boost this to 100 per cent of market value and budget making bodies fixed identical values for each year, every taxpayer would pay exactly the same amount of taxes for those two years, but in the second year, the tax rate would be half of that for the first year.

If the assessor were to assess part of the property at 50 per cent and the rest at 100 per cent in one year, those taxpayers being assessed at 100 per cent would be paying twice the amount of tax because of this inequitable assessment practice.

Consequently, by maintaining an equitable method of assessment, the amount at which property is assessed in no way changes the amount of taxes every taxpayer must pay.

In determining these values the assessors collect large amounts of sales data, building cost data, and use all standard approaches to valuation in arriving at the ultimate total property value for each taxpayer. These aid in equalization of assessment not only within a county but tend to further inter-county equalization.

While the county assessor is assessing all privately-owned property in the county, the state board of equalization is assessing all inter-county utility properties throughout the state. Again, if the same ratio of assessment is not used by both the local assessor and the state board of equalization, one of these two classes of property owners will be paying an unfair share of the tax burden. Tax representatives for the utility companies are just as alert to request reduction of assessments for their holdings as are local taxpayers if they feel there is an inequitable assessment on their property.

Your assessor is constantly aware of these situations and conditions and endeavors to keep assessments equalized between the taxpayers in their counties and in equity with the assessments of the state board of equalization and other counties.

State law requires that the state board of equalization meet on the first Monday of August to review all county assessments to insure equity between counties. If a county is found to be unreasonably low, the state board of equalization has the constitutional duty and power to direct the auditor of that county to raise the assessments on all classes of property to equalize them with other counties throughout the state.

Your county assessor is cognizant that many state funds are distributed on the basis of assessed valuation; that welfare aid is governed by assessed valuation as well as exemptions to veterans and therefore, he is continually striving for better inter-county equalization.

(The next article in this series shows how property values actually are established by the taxpayers.)

Second Man In Six Weeks Dies in Brice Family

Mrs. Mayme Brice, 3929 Sweetwater Road, suffered a two fold loss of men in her family when her twenty-six year old son, Elwin A. Brice, a salesman for Swift and Co., fell dead last Wednesday.

Mrs. Brice was in Brady Texas where she was staying following the burial there of he husband, William J. Brice six weeks ago. She had accompanied the body there for burial.

Younger Brice apparently dropped dead sometime Wednesday morning and was found by neighbors at 10:50 a.m. He was a graduate of San Diego State College and the family had been residents of Spring Valley for 11 years. He was unmarried.

He, too, will be buried in Brady. Conrad Mortuary handled the arrangements.

All will enjoy her consecrated ministry along with special singing, music and testimonies. Pastor of the church is William P. Cass, who invites everyone to come out for these special services in the recently redecorated church building.

Local Couple to Attend Osteopaths Convention

Dr. and Mrs. Thayer Crow, 7602 Pacific Street, will be Lemon Grove representatives at the California Osteopathic Convention being held all this week in Coronado at Hotel del Coronado.

The auxiliary to the State Osteopathic Association will meet concurrently with the parent organization. Mrs. Crow is a member of the auxiliary.

Post graduate courses in various surgical and medical services will be held during the convention. On Thursday studies will encompass "Dermatology"; Friday subject will be "Cardiology" and on Saturday "Radioactive Isotopes" will be the subject.

Osteopaths are licensed physicians and surgeons who practice in all fields of medicine and surgery but who have had additional training in the field of body mechanics.

Dr. Crow has operated offices in Lemon Grove for almost four years and is official doctor for the Lemon Grove Fire Department.

Grading Progressing; Night Shift Eliminated

Work on the grading of the freeway past Lemon Grove is progressing satisfactorily, according to Superintendent Tom Hawley.

The night shift has been discontinued for the present, so that slumber of the residents near the freeway is no longer disturbed by blasts and rumbles.

Chan Mason is now able to get a good night's rest, for which he is grateful.

Rumors of an active spring on the freeway at a high point, with plenty of water flowing, were squished when the "spring" proved to be seepage, probably from septic tanks.

A spring near the junction of Palm and Campo Road is giving some trouble, but it will probably prove to be mostly seepage, with the water contaminated.

So fades another dream. We had figured on making this spring a monument to Jacob Dekema, chief highway engineer, with a little spring house and water for travelers, like the spring on the Descanso grade.

It will probably be a year before the freeway beyond Lemon Grove is completed, so don't get impatient.

The next section west is finished, and will be officially opened this week. Sure is a joy to drive over.

An extension phone makes every day Mother's Day

A good way to show your appreciation of Mother is to give her something that she'll use and treasure not only on Mother's Day but on every day in the year. Something like an extension phone for her kitchen which will make every day easier. Something which points up your thoughtfulness every time she makes a call.

An extension in color makes an ideal Mother's Day gift. It's practical and glamorous, too. And each extension costs only a dollar a month, after a one-time installation charge. We'll gift-wrap, deliver and connect it to suit your convenience. To order, call your telephone business office.
